Subject: Commission Response to Emergency Declaration 2026-047

Beginning on January 24, 2026, and continuing, a severe winter storm will impact the Commonwealth of Kentucky. KRS 367.4917 (6) provides that the Commission shall have statewide authority to enforce and assess civil penalties provided for in this section and to seek injunctive relief for any violation that results in damage to an underground facility used to transport gas or hazardous liquid subject to the federal pipeline safety laws, 49 U.S.C. secs. 60101 et seq.

Pursuant to Executive Order 2026-047, there exists a state of emergency in Kentucky beginning on January 24, 2026, resulting from "a severe winter storm containing heavy snow with significant accumulations, freezing rain, ice, sleet, and artic temperatures [that] will impact the Commonwealth, creating dangerous travel and road conditions, and damage to public infrastructure, utility distribution systems, and private properties; and these conditions will endanger public health and safety and/or public and private property; and state and local governments share responsibility for protection of public health, safety, and security as well as for the protection of public and private property and for taking appropriate actions to ensure the provisions of essential public services."

In response to Executive Order 2026-047, the Commission notes that the conditions created from the severe weather meet the definition of emergency under KRS 367.4903(7) that allow the utility to provide response before procedures required under KRS 367.4909 to 367.4913 can be completed. Additionally, the conditions meet the criteria of extraordinary circumstances under KRS 367.4909(11), which temporarily relieves the operator of the requirement to respond to facility locate requests until the operator can recover from the extraordinary circumstances.

The Commission believes that good cause may exist to allow for waivers of penalties for violation of procedures required under KRS 367.4909 to 367.4913 for operators and excavators providing a good faith response to the aforementioned severe weather through February 23, 2026. Such operators and excavators should note, when notifying the Commission of any violation or responding to Commission inquires, that the violations occurred in response to the severe weather in the areas during the time period discussed in this letter.
